ANNUAL REPORT ON THE ADMINISTRATION of

THE BUNDI STATE

(October 1936 to ¹¹ September 1937.)

CHAPTER 1 — GENERAL & POLITICAL.

1. Situation, Boundary, Area, Population, Revenue & Tribute.

SITUATION The State of Bundi lies in the North East of Rajputana between latitude 24 59" and 26 0' and longitude 75 18" and 76 21"

BOUNDARIES The State is bounded on the North by Tonk, Jaipur and Udaipur States, and on the East by the Chambal river and Kotah State, on the South by the Chambal and Kotah State and on the West by Udaipur State.

GENERAL ASPECT The State is intersected by the Aravalli Hills running from East to West. These hills are thickly wooded, but except for the manufacture of charcoal, these forests are of little commercial value. The rivers run from West to East, flowing into the Chambal, and afford opportunities for bund construction and good irrigation. As funds become available projects will be undertaken. There is a large amount of uncultivated land in the State owing to the lack of population, but now that the Settlement is in progress and rates are being reduced to the minimum there is a tendency for cultivators to come in.

A great deal of the State is made up of rocky soil that is impossible to cultivate. Stone quarries are worked for local consumption, but the quality, and the difficulty of transport make it an impossible export trade. Mica of a rather inferior type is found and is worked in a small way.

REVENUE & TRIBUTE The Revenue of the State during the year was Rs 5,25,614/- Kaldar and Rs 14,34,959/- Hal as against Rs 4,86,248/- Kaldar and Rs 12,94,439/- Hal of last year. The State pays tribute of Rs. 1,20,000/- to the British Government.

The chief crops are wheat, jowar, gram, linseed and dhania, and tobacco on the river banks. A certain amount of makka, cotton and vegetables is also grown in small quantities. The difficulty experienced in this area is that wells for drinking water are few and far between, and the water is at an abnormally low level.

The district of Nainwa on the Northern side of the hill consists of two varieties of soils and crops, a portion of it being Mal land similar to the Patan district, while the remainder is hilly and the type of soil that needs irrigation. Here the main crops are, sugarcane, wheat, jowar and cotton.
